Assessment to Support

The Special Delivery program pairs pregnant and adopting members with trained maternity nurses to proactively reach out to potential participants based on available data. Nurses first perform a key initial risk assessment and then offer ongoing support and education tailored to the member, based on risk factors.

Average Cost of a Preterm Birth:
$65,000

Special Delivery nurses provide guidance and can answer all pregnancy and infant care-related questions about critical topics:

Potential pregnancy risk factors and how to minimize them

Travel during pregnancy

Available community resources

Gestational diabetes

Post-partum concerns and support

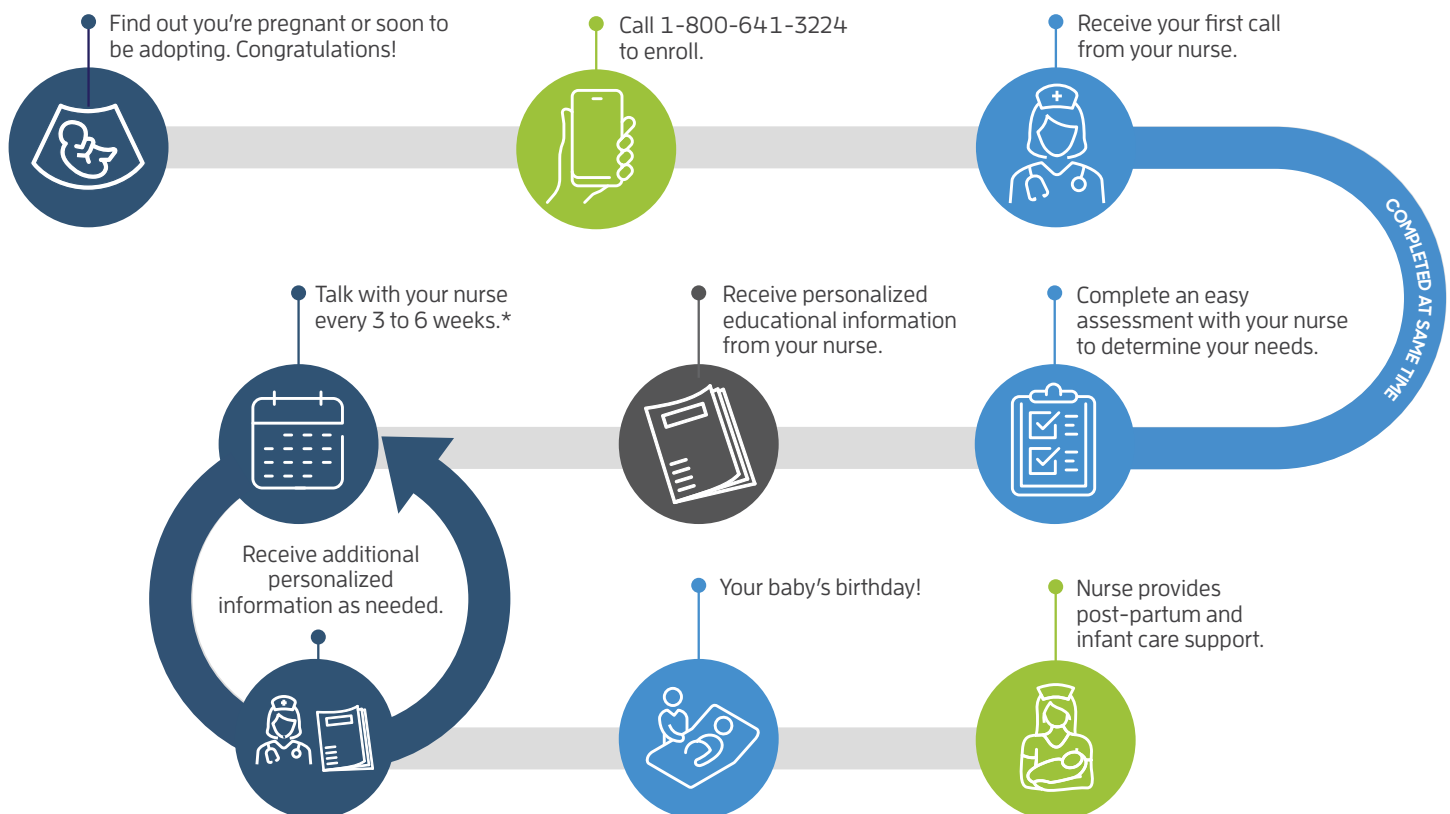

Safe diet and exercise routines

Childcare issues

And more
